Tiffany Wright

HFL Magazine Spotlights Rising Star Singer, Dancer, Choreographer Tiffany Wright

Tiffany Nicole Wright is a native of Jacksonville. She is also a proud alumna of the University of North Florida, a member of Leadership Jacksonville and a member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. She is the Founder of The Performing Arts Link-Up, through which she provides a platform for local performing arts event news and a network for performers/event producers. She is also the creative director for Devoted Dance Company, through which she provides choreography services for special events, liturgical groups and theatre productions. Tiffany is also a performer and has danced, acted and sang in several regional theatre productions including: Dreamgirls, The Wiz, & God's Trombones. She recently has added to her brand, a social media personality by the name of MsDevotedTiff, where she creatively shares her perspective on a variety of topics through short films, comedy sketches and video blogs.

Tiffany has always naturally enjoyed projects related to the arts throughout her life, even during extracurricular activities during her school days. It seemed almost predestined that she would fall in love with projects related to that creative side of her personality. While in college she realized her passion working as a victim's advocate working with women who were sexually assaulted. One of the ways she educated students about situations to avoid was through 'Peer Theater'. She would do skits about various scenarios that women should always be cautious of when protecting themselves from sexual assault. It was at this time she caught the acting bug and found her passion for acting. Tiffany found outlets to hone her acting skills on campus through various variety shows with her local student ministry group. It was here where she found that she could no longer hide her artistic talents as these variety shows allowed her to express her creativity through acting, singing and even dance. She discovered her gift for choreography around this time.

Tiffany draws a lot of her creative influences from her life experiences. She has managed to survive a very tumultuous life and channeled those experiences into her artistic expression. Many remnants of her life can be seen through her passionate performances.

The performing Arts Link-Up is a network that she created to fill the void for individuals that may need a creative outlet but may be unable to locate other likeminded individuals that can fit creative expressions into a typically busy lifestyle.

Tiffany has really embraced her destiny. She is continuing to shine her star bright for the world and taking as many artistic individuals as she can on this amazing journey with her as well. We can't wait to see what she has in store next!
