Summary

I have been self-employed for the most of my life. It is the most amazing feeling being able to have your own schedule and apply your skills.

My goal is to Empower Women Globally with my Romantic, Fiction Novel "Fire and Ice" by Dianna Bellerose

No matter how hard things are in life and what kind of obstacles show up, women are capable to cope with because anything is possible. Never give up and believe in yourself and you can achieve miracles.

Fire and Ice

I have been doing research about best possible ways to market and have your book seen by thousands for the past three years. My experience helped me to create a best seller and award winning book, everything was done by myself. During this time, I found the best in the field and spend hours learning, so I can help others who wants to write only and have someone else do the rest. Most people get discouraged because they do not see results after publishing their book. This is just a small step towards your career as an author, more important is how to market and who is your best audience and how to find it. I can teach you everything you need to know about writing your book and creating pages on FB and Twitter.
