Sina Beizavi

Roto Artist and Video Editor at Filmgardi
Iran

Summary

As a teenager I started learning the basis of story-telling and movement in animation. I made a 4 minute short animation called SOURCE. After that I started working for a film-making company in my hometown as an editor which made me ready to direct my first short film called 'The Master's Diamonds.'

I studied Dramatic Literature at Tehran University of Art. Halfway through my 4th semester I made another short film called Sugar.

I played more than a dozen roles in plays and short films and directed a grotesque play called 'Death Becomes Her' which was the theatrical version of the 1992 comedy movie of the same name.

Right after my 7th semester, I started working as a freelance video editor.

Shortly after I got employed at Rain Studios, my manager offered me the position of 1st AD for his third short film which was a pleasant experience for me.

Recently I finished my third short film named 'Wanderer' and also I'm gathering a cast and crew in order to make my forth short film, because film-making and acting and story-telling are the reasons I am who I am. Cinema is my love and I have no intention of leaving her. ;)
