

Artistic C.V.

Mirona Mara's work is an exploration of the mind's inner landscapes, the various shades of human nature, a continual search for raw emotion. Whether it is messy charcoal, black ink and sepia, water-colour or different types of clay, the message is poetic and genuine, an invitation for introspection, in a mindful, open minded way. With a special interest in charcoal drawing, Mirona has been pushing the limits of story-telling through stop-motion animation. Mirona studied art and journalism in Romania and continued her academic studies in Ireland, where she moved in 2003, and graduated with a first class Honours Degree in Fine Art. She is currently part of a collaborative duo with Irish artist Jonathan Murphy, in Light and Shadow studios in Wexford town, Co. Wexford.
