Kimberly Michelle Vaughn

Director | Writer | Executive Producer

Kimberly Michelle Vaughn is an award-winning actress who graduated from Columbia College of Chicago with a BA in Theatre in 2014. With a five-year tenure at Second City Theatre, she developed a strong affinity and skills for improv while ascending to the Main Stage. Industry recognition afforded her opportunities for writing and creating national advertising campaigns for Fortune 500 companies.

September of 2021 she established her production company, Suburban Blvck Girl Productions, LLC. She recently made her directorial debut for the narrative short, HINDSIGHT after winning a grant from Creative Cypher's film XLerator recipient program in 2022.

Troy Pryor

Executive Producer

Troy Osborne Pryor is a media producer, speaker, and coach, but his true superpower is the ability to connect people and resources. His collaborations have led to award-winning projects and content on multiple platforms. Pryor is the founder of Creative Cypher, a portfolio of media companies & investments, under his company Pryor Holdings.

"ELIMINATE THE NEED FOR PERMISSION" - TROY PRYOR

A Chicago native, Troy prides himself in being an affluent connector of the people, working with and for the BIPOC collective to amplify their voices and outreach. With his extensive experience in theater and film, he quickly discovered the need to connect undiscovered diverse talent to mainstream media platforms. Troy organically began to create an ecosystem of talent through his entertainment brands Creative Cypher and Pryor Holdings, in hopes to merge that gap.

A proud alumni of University of Illinois (2007), Troy was the youngest person ever to be elected to SAG-AFTRA Chicago's Board of Directors and was a mentor for President Barack Obama's White House project, A Call to ArtsHis with SAG-AFTRA. A thought leader on the forefront of politics within the entertainment industry, Troy has been able to identify key traits and skills that set people apart. Whether they are center stage or behind the scenes.

As a Chicago Scholars 35 Under 35, Ariel Investments/WVON 40 Game Changer, Black Enterprise TCX Fellow, and ADColor nominated Innovator of the Year, Pryor has a tenacity for innovation and big-picture, strategic thinking. Still very much grounded in the values of his church family, he continues to spend his time ministering, mentoring, and coaching as he strives daily to reach his full potential.

Judy Febles

Producer

Originally from Connecticut, Judy Febles relocated to Chicago to study film at Columbia College after serving four years in the military. She loves the challenge of bringing material alive in character-driven films that showcase identities not seen in the mainstream media. Through her seven years in the industry, Judy is a Producer at heart, but is also a Director and Production Designer. She loves using the psychology of communicating, space, shape, color and objects to enrich the actor's environment. Overall her love for filmmaking knows no limits.

Her producer credits include the short film "Warren?" which won Audience Choice Award from the Chicago Latino Film Festival 2021 and the feature film "Firstness" which won the Grand Jury Prize at Outfest Film Festival 2021. Drawing from personal experiences as a Queer, Veteran, and as a first generation Cuban & Puerto Rican-American, Febles seeks to depict the unique intersections that encompass her identity. She believes in honoring multifarious narratives and the power of storytelling as a means to revolutionize society.
