

Mike Rae Anderson Biography

Born in Stuttgart, Germany Raised in Fayetteville, NC
Mike Rae Anderson is an Actor, Author, Film maker and Movie Producer, and also a National Spokesperson for Juvenile Justice and Mass Incarceration. He is known for "A Polished Soul: The Mike Rae Anderson Story" Documentary and Fusion TV's "Ferguson: Policing Black Bodies" and was Co-Producer for the award winning full length Documentary "Give Us This Day" which was Executive Produced by Vince Vaughn. Mike also co-starred in the film "Crossbreed" (starring Vivica Fox and Daniel Baldwin). Known for Bad Boy roles in such TV shows as "For My Man (TV One) and "Primal Instinct (Id channel)" Mike has recently crossed over into the realm of Detective roles and Mentor/Leadership characters. He has a back ground in Radio, Theater, TV Show hosting, Live Show stage hosting and Film Production. Mike recently filmed a Biopic adaptation of his self written Autobiography "A Polished Soul" (available on Amazon).

Jermi Little Writer/Actor/Producer Biography

Jermi Little grew up in Washington DC and North Carolina. At an early age Jermi became enthralled with the medium of cinema and would often sneak into the movies to enjoy great storytelling, characters, settings and plot. This unknowingly was the beginning of what was to come. Jermi found himself joining the Army after 911 as well to escape life in the streets. Jermi unfortunately suffered an injury while paying his dues in the Army and is now a disabled veteran. Jermi's passion and tenacity for Acting and cinema and producing took hold when he produced his first feature an original story called "The Mutt" starring Erik Estrada. as well as helping produce a feature titled "A Knight to Remember" Jermi is producing the action drama "Rubber Bullets" he is dedicated to creating gritty story telling that is captivating and memorable. He does what he loves and is extremely passionate about unifying his productions and putting out the best product possible.