PROFILE

Names Amy, a freelance 2D animator and illustrator based in California. I have years of industry experience, working largely in part with the music industry, freelancing for HBO, and taking part in the indie film stream. I have a passion for the arts and telling stories through it. My goal as an artist is to bring joy and wonder through my work to anyone who views it. I thank you for taking the time to view my work and I hope to hear from you soon. I've been drawing and animating for several years and hope to use my skills to contribute the large world of art and animation.
