Film Production Student

Professional Summary

I am currently completing my Honours degree at AFDA, Cape Town. Though I have limited experience working in professional Film and Television environments, my involvement in numerous student and independent productions has exposed me to various aspects of filmmaking. Most of which include screenwriting, directing and producing. I believe storytelling is the crutch of civilisation as it sculpts our cultures and societies. My training and experience in the craft of filmmaking has made me a resourceful, ethical, critical and self-disciplined individual, which will be a great asset to any creative team, project or company.
