Christopher Mormando

SAG-AFTRA

Christopher Mormando was born in Brooklyn, New YorkChristopher, who his friends nicknamed Chrisboy, was an active child who aspired to be an actor and director.

Mormando's early career was in sales. As he climbed to the tops of his company as the number one salesman on east coast.. Achieving his goals in business was victory for Mormando but then his next step in life was to do what he always wanted and that was acting..

Mormando, who finally pursued his dream in his 40s, began by studying under the famous stunt coordinator, John Cenatiempo (aka Johnny C). He also immersed himself in acting classes with New York based casting directors Suzanne Scheel and Eve Battaglia and found his way to screen soon thereafter.

One of Mormando's first on-screen roles came with the National Lampoon's feature film One too Many (2008). Several notable roles followed including Tommy Googootz in Lilyhammer (Netflix) and Goon in Marvelous Mrs. Maisel (Prime Video). Mormando quickly gained prominence and established himself as an emerging star name in For Life (ABC) and his best-known role to date as series lead Gaetano in Gravesend (Prime Video). Gravesend Season 3 is set to fire in June of 2026.. Adding to the cast and crew is legendary basketball player Shaquille O'Neal and Rocky Legend Talia Shire..

In 2024, it was announced that Mormando made his directorial debut as well as produce and star in feature film Judge No Book by its Color. Which is currently completed.

Mormando's past film & video credits include Jersey Bred (2024), Babygirl (2025), The Families Feud (2023), The Lurking Fear (2023), No Hard Feelings (2023), This Is the Night (2021), The Report (2019), American Fright Fest (2018), Detective Chinatown 2 (2018), Addiction: A 60's Love Story (2015), One, Two, Many (2008)

Mormando's past television credits include The Equalizer Season 5 (2025) CBS, The Night Agent Season 2 and 3 Netflix (2024-2025).
