PRODUCER'S STATEMENT

THE IDEA:

In November 2011 I visit the American Film Market (AFM) in Santa Monica.

My dream was to make an awesome, kick-ass thriller movie like Quentin Tarantino or Robert Rodriguez, only with a much smaller budget. At AFM, while watching a panel of seasoned executives, agents, and Hollywood movers and shakers, the idea came to me in a flash.

During the Q&A portion of the talk, I asked them how I could get the biggest buzz for my project with a miniscule budget? They couldn't answer my question, but their enthusiasm to my asking it only encouraged me. This was something that had never been done before! At that moment, I made up my mind to put together a movie with a budget of only $1000. If I could pull it off, then this could change the world of movie making forever, putting the power for creative and artistic expression in the hands of anyone with the will and the determination to do it.

THE BOOM BOOM GIRLS OF WRESTLING was born!

THE BOOM BOOM GIRLS OF WRESTLING went over it's budget of 1k, it was done for only $5k. This is still a remarkable achievement even undercut the micro-budget indie thriller E/Mariachi by Robert Rodriguez (who, along with Tarantino, was one of the inspirations for Von Petzholdt and Walldorf's movie), made for $7k back in the 1990s.
