

GEORGETTE PIERRE

Radio/TV Host + Writer

About

Radio/TV personality and writer, Georgette Pierre is a force to be reckoned with. First grabbing the attention of a program director at her college, Norfolk State University, her distinctive voice and charisma sealed the deal in 2003, thus beginning her reins as a radio personality. After entering a graduate program at Emerson College in Boston, she became heavily involved with their radio station as an on-air host, a producer, a news writer, and a music programmer. In 2009 she became a host for KarmaloopTV's online daily show, The Daily Loop, eventually birthing her own internet radio show later that year called Off the Record with Georgette Pierre.

Since moving to New York, Georgette has interned with WNYC Radio, corresponded and content produced for music site, KillerBoombox, and web-based news service, Alleywire. She currently has bylines on MTV News and VH1 and is a contributing host to iTunes' 2 Dope Boys and a Podcast.

From having hosted and produced a nationally syndicated morning show on iHeartRadio, the addition of her YouTube web series, #DearGeorgette, only made sense. When she's not conjuring up new ways to spread her infectious energy, Georgette can be found on Twitter as one of pop culture's commentators and excerpting her life via Tumblr and Instagram.

PODCAST

Created out of a want for more elevated and uplifting content, Off the Record with Georgette Pierre spotlights music, pop culture news, lifestyle, relationships, and personal awareness topics. Highlighting those recognized by their peers with an “edutainment” approach, the show seeks to present fresh content in a way that resonates with her audience. Giving off the vibe of “old friends catching up”, Georgette's personable and candid style allows listeners to witness an unbounded conversation, no filters. Think Oprah meets Chelsea Lately.

Since the podcast ended in 2014, the show has reached over 315,000 aggregate listens amongst her target demographic of 25-34 year old, social media driven, internet-savvy, freethinking young adults. Past episodes are available for free on your mobile phone via iTunes, tunein, and Stitcher radio apps.

WEB SERIES

What started off as conversations about relationships, life, and pop culture with friends and loved ones turned into a web series. #DearGeorgette is the creator's version of her own video diary as she takes on a modern day advice column approach to some of life's woes by tackling them in a witty, blunt, yet personable way. Think Oprah meets Chelsea Lately on TV.

Season one and two are available now on YouTube.

Millennial Relationship Series #DearGeorgette Is Back in Time for Valentine's Day

Georgette Pierre is giving you all of the relationship realness you didn't know you needed.

by Alexa Tietjen 2/9/2016

Here's something your single and fabulous self can Netflix and chill with this Valentine's Day.

YouTube series #DearGeorgette premieres its second season today. The series, created by and starring TV personality Georgette Pierre, offers perspective on love, dating and relationships for the millennial audience. It articulates the internal conversations (and conflicts) many of us ladies have about men and dating, challenges the viewer to set aside reticence in favor of spunk and brings the focus back to the most important part of your dating life: you.
