To Whom it may concern,

My name is James Catizone, I have entered the HBO Access Writing Competition. My entry is the pilot for a limited series which I developed from an original feature length screenplay that I wrote called 'The Italian Restaurant'.

I've titled it Restarantworld: Season 1- The Italian Restaurant. The idea is that each season could revolve around different restaurant/service industry stories. The first of which is six a episode story about two major characters Harry and Suzanne who are also involved in a relationship, and their group of coworkers. The limited season story takes place over a year and a half and follows our characters through their daily lives and many changes that come their way over the story arc. The company they work for is a fictional company called The Italian Restaurant. In the pilot/first episode the cast finds out that a new company-wide commercial will be shot in their branch of the restaurant. I've tried to write The Italian Restaurant with the character depth and moods that normally would be seen in an HBO style drama.

I have enough material for six episodes for the first season. I also have two different ideas for two other seasons, both in infancy stages.

I hope you will consider my work as a viable Pilot option.

Sincerely,

James M Catizone
