Writer's Note

I created Stripped to explore the idea that sexuality isn't as black and white as people make it out to be. I wanted to showcase a character that doesn't have it all figured out and I wanted to present the ideas generated by the Kinsey scale in a new way that provoked thought and challenged viewers to see their own sexuality and the sexuality of others with an open mind."

- Matkai Burmaster, Writer and Actor

Producers's Note

"The journey from script to short film with Stripped has been a true pleasure . Thanks to a team of passionate individuals, the story, themes and characters of Stripped have touched more people than I could have imagined. Playing these characters in a way that makes them real and relatable in a short like takes nothing less than a true passion for acting and storytelling."

- Deanna Widmeyer, Producer and Actor

From the Press

"I'm impressed by the depth of Stripped. The film raises more questions than it does provide answers. Perhaps that is the point. It is comforting to believe that our choices are all solutions but in Stripped, the choices we make and the actions we take may more aptly be questions we are asking ourselves."

- Andrew McArthur, Journalist
