THE RETURN OF THE MEDIA MONSTERS OF TRANSYLVANIA TELEVISION!

Minneapolis – November 20, 2017

Where can you find an albino Yeti, a beatnik bat, and a bossy bloodsucker vain vampire? Why on Transylvania Television of course! Furry Ackermonger, Batfink, Count LeShoc and the rest of the Kastle Krew are back in the brain-stealing business after a five-year hiatus with three new episodes available exclusively on Seeka.tv.

The Retro Monster Comedy That's REALLY Not For Kids™ features Furry and his ghoulish friends running their dungeon-based television station with full-on slapstick insanity, broadcasting undead programming throughout the Carpathian mountains and beyond!

Joining the all puppet cast is the talented and drop-dead funny Trace Beaulieu (The Mads Are Back, Mystery Science Theater 3000) in two hilarious cameos. The new episodes include: Beach Blanket Kink-Oh!: Batfink tries to meet his surf-movie crush and Dwayne Frankenstein dates and Ancient One; The Killer VHS: Batfink's favorite VHS rental tape wreaks supernatural havoc on the castle; and Dead Man's Party: Le Shoc's 400th birthday party bring on a mid-death crisis, and Furry develops a Quato-like tumor and more!

Created by puppetmaker/puppeteer Gordon Smuder and filmmaker Michael J Heagle, this tombstone tour-de-farce is entirely produced in Minnesota. "TVTV" has been reanimating more dead pop culture references than one "Stranger Things" fan can handle since 2007.

The three new episodes were funded and are distributed by start-up streaming site, Seeka.tv – dedicated to presenting and supporting independently produced web series. The entire series, including the new episodes, including the Transylvania Television Real Meanin' of Halloween Special Show can be found on the Seeka.tv website, as well as ROKU and AppleTV!
