“A Trans-Atlantic journey”

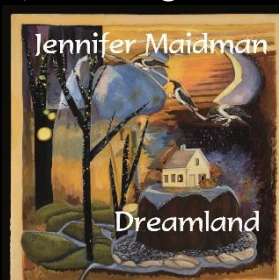

“This album soothes my soul”

Filmed entirely on a single iPhone, and now selected in the short documentary category by the New York City Independent Film Festival (screening 13th May 2018), Dreamland (28 minutes) is a fast-paced, heart-warming portrait of multiple gold award winning musician Jennifer Maidman, and the making of her album at Dreamland recording studio in Woodstock, Upstate New York. Shot in the studio and on location in the Woodstock area, Dakota Lane's film takes an in-depth and sometimes dreamy look into Jennifer's early life as a female born in a male form, and how this shaped her destiny as musician and human. Also featured are Jennifer's partner and musical collaborator Annie Whitehead, and legendary Woodstock musicians David Torn and Jerry Marotta, as well as an international cast of others, including members of the seminal British ensemble, the Penguin Café Orchestra.
