MEÏA

Barcelona raised singer-songwriter, MEÏA, has just released her new music video of “Down By The Water”, the first song off her upcoming album, “The Women I am”. Co-written with award winning writer & journalist, Verónica Sánchez Orpella, this is based on Persephone’s myth, introducing the meaning of the cycle of nature, representing spring, and also a symbol of the vulnerable feminine archetype of becoming a goddess. This live version song will be recorded for the upcoming album that will feature more inspirations of female myths and archetypes. The “Down By The Water” music video was directed and edited by Clara Brotons of Goliath Productions and cinematography done by Daniel Burity.
