About

Living My Illusion Part 1

Joel Van der Molen

“ Nearly every decision that people make is based on what other people will think of them. ”

Logline:

In a Facebook/Instagram world everyone thinks Joel has made it. But when he invites Human behaviour expert Tony into his world, a journey of self-discovery reveals the truth, leading to a decision that will change the course of his life.

Documentary Synopsis:

A morally provoking, contextually interesting, and life-transforming true story of how a successful entrepreneur, husband and father is willing to do what most people fear to do, but deep down, they wish they could.

Joel Van der Molen

Through shocking truth-telling interviews and private one to one coaching sessions, the viewer sees Joel's 'in the moment' realisations under a clever series of revealing questions by expert Tony, bringing our subject to question the masked realities of the life he has created. Joel courageously shares deep and personal learnings, speaking honestly about resulting to IVF to conceive a child, sexual repression, and if he ever loved his wife at all. He does this without fear of any backlash. Should he succumb to the expectations of his father, what his friends are doing and get back in line, or follow the feeling burning inside of him, at the cost of hurting his loving wife?

This timely Documentary about how Transformational Life Coaching can help people be true to oneself makes a case for breaking some unquestionable taboos and adds friction from a moral standpoint. In each episode, Joel is trying to work out what the illusion of fame, fortune and freedom means to him at the expense of his health, business and marriage. From the other angle, Tony provides unique wisdom and guidance for the viewer on our subject's resulting actions and the midlife crisis saga that no one can escape.

Living My Illusion; Joel's story, pushes the boundaries of documentary form, being a mirror to every man, inviting them to self-reflect on his truth-telling and courageous decisions, and to challenge every societal value he once upheld. In Tony he has found someone to give him the clarity he needs at a crucial point in his life, to help him find his own unique voice and choose a path to living a purposeful life, and giving to his wife and family the greatest gift he could ever give, to find their truth and ultimate freedom.

A Statement from Tony Jeton Selimi

“ Intuition, when listened to, guides us to break our illusions, honour our suppressed truth and awaken our innate wisdom. ”

The Living My Illusion Documentary Film Series

was created to inspire change and serves as an educational tool and clean mirror from which viewers observe, see, and acknowledge the knowing within, so that true love can prevail over fear, emotional desperation, and one sided ego elation.

Despite the various consequences that Joel's decision to selflessly share his personal coaching journey with the world may bring, his grateful heart breaks the bonds of his rigid mind. It is the ongoing shifts he experiences that inspires him to take this brave step. In this opening episode he supports the vision to reach the minds and activate the hearts infinite love and wisdom of one billion people.

I am incredibly humbled to be the expert that is helping Joel and Timea, two incredible people that fortune put on my path, to help them acknowledge the truth, heal their pain, and maximise their true potential by listening to their souls call for love.
