CRISTO FERNÁNDEZ

Cristo Fernández is an actor, director, producer and screenwriter born in the beautiful city of Guadalajara, Jalisco, Mexico.

He holds a degree in communications from the Universidad del Valle de Atemajac (UNIVA) in Guadalajara, Mexico and has a Master's degree in Acting from the Guildford School of Acting at the University of Surrey in England, UK. Cristo speaks fluent Spanish, English, German, French and Italian.

He has excelled as an actor working in projects both on stage and on screen, in Mexico and abroad. The highlight of his career thus far has been starring as "Dani Rojas" in the comedy TV Series "TED LASSO" (2020) written by Jason Sudeikis & Bill Lawrence, produced by Warner Bros., Apple TV+ & DOOZER Productions and directed by Zack Braff, Elliot Hegarty, Tom Marshall, Declan Lowney & MJ Delaney.

In 2017, he started his film company "Espectro MX Films." Within this company he has released several short films that have screened internationally in film festivals all over the world, including Mexico, USA, India, Argentina, England, Italy, Spain, Albania, Macedonia and Australia. Currently, Cristo is developing three feature films which contain bilingual and multicultural elements. His most successful film to date is "Fuera de Serie" (2017), a project based on the real life story of Guillermo González Camarena, inventor of the color television. The film is also in pre-production as a feature film and was winner of "Best Production and Best Short Film Direction" at the "Premios Latino 2018" awards ceremony in Marbella, Spain. His most recent film entitled "Çdo Çast / Every Moment" (2019), has won the awards for "Best Film & Best Photography" at the "Festival Internacional de Cine Ciudad Madero - FICCMA 2019." This film began as a "script project" selected by the "Balkan's Gate International Film Festival," and was later filmed in the Korça region, on Lake Prespa in Albania.

Also noteworthy are his acceptance of the "Clarence Derwent Award" for young artists by the "EQUITY UNION" in the United Kingdom (2016), and his work as a jury member of the "International Film Festival of Yécora" in Sonora (2019) & "International Festival of Cinema NEOSFest - International Meeting of Audiovisual Experimentation" (2019) in Puebla, Mexico.
