

ALEX KINTER

DIRECTOR | DP | FILMMAKER

BIOGRAPHY

As an award-winning director and cinematographer, Alex Kinter brings his unique and highly visual storytelling prowess to everything from digital photography and commercial video production to music videos and films. Having attended Texas A&M University-Commerce for Art Direction & Photography in 2011, Alex also received a certificate in Digital Imaging & Post-processing from RED Digital Cinema in 2012. For 15 years, he has worked as a freelancer for a diverse variety of clients. Over the last five years, Alex founded and developed Solarity Studios from its beginnings in a loft space to a 25,000-square-foot commercial video production powerhouse with offices in Dallas and LA. He has enjoyed partnerships with, Bain & Company, Lookhu, amongst others, Buzznog, Will Smith's app development company.

Alex and Solarity Studios have collaborated with clients to create publicity campaigns incorporating both liveaction and 3D motion graphics to stunning effect. Their clients include SMB's, non-profit organizations, production firms, entertainers, and Fortune 500 companies such as Viacom, GMR Marketing, Legacy Marketing, and Havas Creative. In 2016 and 2017, Solarity Studios was proud to sponsor the Dallas International Film Festival and the Texas Revolution Pro Indoor Football Team.

After being restructured, resulting in new partners and a new approach to their work, Alex rebranded the company as Kinter Media. Being selective about their clients means they can redirect resources to create their own branded and original content. This also allows them to focus on meaningful partnerships, such as with BlackBoxStocks, with whom Kinter Media has a vendor agreement.

Kinter Media's cutting-edge content, commercial video production, industrials, pillar content pieces, landing page videos, branded motion graphics, and powerful cinematic cuts, and more leave audiences invigorated and wanting more. With his experience working in many capacities on ambitious projects, Alex can develop creative concepts, incorporate strategies, and tailor video marketing solutions. He can work with your existing infrastructure and collaborate with your marketing team, or he can provide his own modern video production facilities for your enterprise. His highly effective combination of emotion-driven content with epic visuals creates a powerful and authentic brand story that will drive sales of your products and services.

Their cutting-edge video marketing strategies unleash the genuine power of digital marketing and the true potential of social media. They are central to the turnkey content that Alex has produced and directed over the years, both for TV broadcast and the web, as well as for music videos, online promotional videos, and magazines. He has worked alongside entertainment host Paul Salfen on shows such as The Drew Pearson Show and Sports Plus & Inside Entertainment as well as notable print & web publications such as Envy Magazine, AMFM Magazine, YouPlus Media, 944 Magazine, and ScoreBoard Monthly.
