Christopher is a Latinx filmmaker and writer of ASSIMILATED, from a racist town near Fresno; he helped oust a Mayor as a KKK member. After experiencing how stories can fight injustice, he turned to cinema and received his MFA from USC and brings his outsider vision directing A-list talent, top brands, studios and continues his commitment to the community through teaching directing at USC. His films screened at over 100 festivals, including Hollyshorts, Santa Barbara International Film Festival, Cinequest, Cleveland International Film Festival, Nantucket International Film Festival, and more. His screenplay ASSIMILATED is a finalist in the ScreenCraft Film Fund and Oaxaca Film Festival. It was a 2nd Rounder at Austin Film Festival, a semi-finalist in Killer Shorts, WeScreenplay Diverse Voices, a Quarterfinalist in Slamdance, and a Semifinalist in Stage32 Diversity Springboard Screenwriting Competition, the Official Selection of Coverfly Pitch Week, and top 2% of Coverflys projects.
