

H U N G R Y N O W

Kids, The Homeless & The Helpers

Photo: Beth Staples

A Documentary Feature Film directed by Alan Kryszak

Hungry Now Synopsis, Press Materials & Private Preview at FilmFreeway.com

We've all driven right by them. We've all walked on by, crossing to the other side out of caution. Who are they? What do they want? How did children grow up only to climb through a dumpster for half-eaten food & end their winter days in a tent in the richest country in the world?

"Hungry Now" hopes to connect a few dots, the kids being cared for by teachers, to the sketchy shadows off the road. Voices you've never heard before and it's not what you may expect to hear: the young couple by the dumpster; the man with the dark hat by the abandoned gas station in Bangor, Maine, the man bundled into his wheelchair with everything he will ever own, by the Penobscot bridge, not asking you for a thing.

Jonathan

Photo: Kryszak

"And I'm OK with that.
I make it work."

*Pon
Eastport, Maine*

Photo: Kryszak

Disabled Homeless Man
Bangor, ME

Photo: Kryszak

West Quoddy

Photo: Kryszak

*Tent City
Bangor, Maine*

Photo: Hannah Somers-Jones

“They don’t want to work”

Allen -
Eastport, ME

Photo: Kryszak

Dale
Pleasant Pont, Maine

Photo: Kryszak

*Jeni & Yani
Congo->Machias, Maine*

Photo: Kryszak

*Smile Thorn
Machias, Maine*

Photo: Kryszak

Milbridge, Maine

Photo: Kryszak

*Bill – MANNA Food Pantry
Bangor, Maine*

Photo: Kryszak