

SUNLIGHT AROUND THE CORNER
“The Golden Sparrow”

This experimental narrative short film is inspired by the lives of the front-line community health workers. These women work in some of the poorest neighborhoods in the United States located in Richmond, Virginia.

The film was conceptualized to personify these stories and activated by several art forms. Using the interpretive movements by the Cuban dancer Daylin Martínez, she embodied the struggles, pains, joys and triumphs of those women just by listening to their words, through the deep rich voice of the Canadian Nigerian singer Yetunde Ajasin. The music amplifies the dialogue in between these elements, combining sounds and rhythms of the African Diaspora such as Yoruba, Palo Monte, Blues and the ethnic-mysterious Arará.

In most places of the world, the sparrow bird (old world sparrow) is used as a symbol of power, creativity, community, simplicity and empowerment.

Directed by: Daymé Arocena & Pablo Dewin
