

MOVIE SUMMARY

10 year old Bryn made a claymation movie about the importance of using "natural solutions for your bug problems" - something she's passionate about. The idea came after one of her "grub hunting" sessions (she loves gathering grubs for the birds and lizards).

Bryn loves the environment and all creatures, but also makes a point to clarify that "My movie is not violent... it's just the circle of life."

BIO:

Bryn is a young aspiring filmmaker from Carlsbad, California. She discovered her love for animation at age 10, and got a lot of media attention for her first film ("Bad Bugs"). She has many ideas for more films, and is currently learning 2D animation as well. Bryn is 99% sure she wants to be an animator when she grows up... and is already well on her way!
