

Poem: Stargazed Yearning

Kandice Kathleen Zimbleman © 2019
(Black UniGryphon TM)

I look out towards the stars,
Somewhere out there is you...
Everywhere.
I've been waiting for your message.
Did you get mine?

I look upwards towards the stars,
You're out there somewhere....
Everywhere.
I'm still waiting to receive your message.
Didn't you get mine?

I gaze upon the stars, skyward,
Hello? Are you still out there?
Anywhere?
Is the transmission bad?
Are you receiving?
Hello?
I'm still waiting!
Hello?
I miss you!

It's been 1,000 orbital planetary years,
I Continue waiting for you,
I'm still safe on the planet you left me on....
Steadfast & yearning,
I'm waiting every day,
To see you again....
Undaunted,
Please return soon!

I search the starry skies,
Somewhere out there,
-please be out there!
Somewhere???
Are you there?
Can you hear me?
Hello?
I'm still waiting!
I miss you!
I keep waiting for you!

I gaze upward towards the stars,
Hello? Are you still out there?
Anywhere?

Are you receiving?
Hello? Hello?

-Oh! The signal is bad!
I miss you.

I want you to know...
-that I still love you....

Hello?
Are you there????