

Cove International Publishers

Contact:
September Williams, MD
WRITER, BIOETHICIST, PRODUCER
Ninth Month Productions
National Writers Union / International Federation of Journalists

tel: (415) 505-2310
email: september.ninthmonth@gmail.com
website: <http://www.septemberwilliams.com>

Film Press Package AN EXERCISE IN EMPATHY

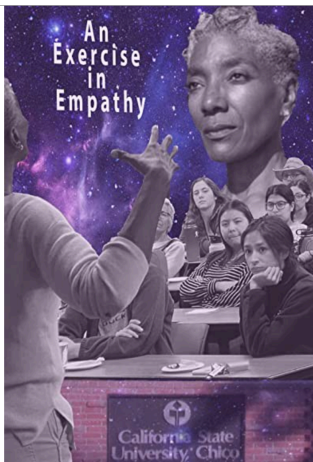

California State University-Chico (CSU) and the surrounding community remains profoundly affected by the death and destruction of the Camp Wildfire of 2018. Knowing of that suffering, and that grief is cyclic, Dr. September Williams, physician-author, and bioethicist seized the chance, when it was offered, to share her work on Narrative Bioethics, Cross-Cultural Competency, and end of life care at CSU. The date was set for February 12, 2020, unbeknownst to all that it would be during the rising phase of America's arm of SARS-CoVID19. This film and the pandemic again underscores that health inequities are related to geographical location, race, class, human, and political behavior. More at <https://filmfreeway.com/AnExerciseinEmpathy>

Director/Producer: Cedric O'Bannon Bio

Cedric O'Bannon is an African American freelance video journalist and documentary filmmaker. A member of the National Writers Union/International Federation of Journalists, O'Bannon's work advances humanitarian goals by clarifying the past in support of a better future. Cedric O'Bannon's journalistic focus clarified in 2012. That was the year unarmed 17 year old, Trayvon Martin, was fatally shot, walking to his father's home in a closed community in Florida. By 2016, O'Bannon was filming political rallies of the man who would soon become the chief executive officer of the United States. It was June of 2016, while working as a video journalist, that Cedric O'Bannon was stabbed by a Neo-Nazi, wielding a spear at the end of a flag pole—which still bore an American flag. And so—history handed Cedric O'Bannon his documentary film and journalistic destiny. More at OB Media <https://filmfreeway.com/AnExerciseinEmpathy> and <https://www.cedricobannon.com>

Producer/Writer/Protagonist: September Williams

September Williams, MD is a Black American physician-writer, bioethicist, and filmmaker. Her work promotes narrative inquiry in bioethics through stories which are diverse, humanitarian, and scientifically imbued. More at <https://www.septemberwilliams.com/the-writer-chasing-mercury> and <https://filmfreeway.com/SeptemberWilliams674>

< Cedric O'Bannon/Director Producer : Act of Empathy (2021)

September Williams: Producer/Protagonist Act of Empathy (2021)>

Photos Attach

