LOGLINE

Due to her grandmother's death, a young woman returns to her hometown, but there is not much she can call home.

SYNOPSIS

Gun (27) returns to her hometown following the death of her beloved grandmother. In no time, she starts to face burial procedures and the culture in which she has already become a stranger. She constantly encounters an obstacle or a new necessity. While she has a heavy cross to bear, she cannot do only one thing.

DIRECTOR'S NOTES

This project has been shaped around a real-life loss and its effects afterward. The main focus is overviewing the struggle of dealing with necessities rather than embracing the pain.

This short film aimed to look at the grieving process, which we have normalized for centuries, from a different perspective with subtle bitter-sweet humor.
