DIRECTOR'S STATEMENT

OMAR COOK

As a young African American filmmaker living in Los Angeles, my sole purpose is to create empowering films for the community that teach lessons and inspire people to be better versions of themselves.

Deadly Thoughts is a hard hitting, emotional drama that deals with mental health issues as well as infidelity in relationships. This film is relatable as many people deal with dramatic issues in their relationships and I wanted to tell a story that took people on a roller coaster. I am rising filmmaker who is carving his name in the entertainment industry as I have racked up over 30 awards in international festivals for my short films including Best Debut Filmmaker, Best Short Film, Best Actor, Best Drama and more.

Mental health is something that the young generation needs to prioritize as well as maintaining healthy relationships and I want to push that message through my films. Creating movies that people can feel is my goal, and Deadly Thoughts certainly fits that motto.

ADONIS ARMSTRONG

Working on Deadly Thoughts was very impactful for me because we wanted to show a different style from our first film. Also getting the opportunity to help show the audience a side of mental health was a major interest. Mental illness has taken many lives and it's still not a great topic of discussion. Especially amongst men because I know most of us tend to hide emotions, bottle them up and explode.

With that being said, everyone loves a great relationship story with a little dramatic twist. The film will show Darnell experiencing a series of reminiscences over his girlfriend Aya. Great memories that you will feel touched and adore them as your own. It also shows what damage to the heart could possibly turn a person into in an instant. I'm not promoting violence but this thriller will have you on the edge of your seat. You will actually feel for Darnell after the true story unfolds.
