

The Unknown God

FAR up the dim twilight fluttered
Moth-wings of vapour and flame:
The lights danced over the mountains,
Star after star they came.

The lights grew thicker unheeded, 5
For silent and still were we;
Our hearts were drunk with a beauty
Our eyes could never see.