SYNOPSIS

Stories about mothers and sons striving to appreciate, understand, and accept each other – navigating the twists and turns of today's family life.

DIRECTOR & STATEMENT

As a filmmaker, I am deeply committed to telling stories about the complexities of human relationships. In this short film, I explore the gaps of beliefs between Carlo, a gay son, and his conservative mother. This film emphasizes the difficulties and conflicts that can arise between people of different backgrounds and beliefs, as well as the importance of understanding and respect in overcoming these difficulties. The film ultimately shows that love and acceptance are more powerful than any difference of opinion through Carlo and his mother's journey.
