"The animated characters – based on an amalgam of real life survivors and supporters of the peace process between the Colombian Government and the FARC-EP guerrilla – convey the mundane horrors of their war experience in a tactile and poignant way. Their voices are spoken by individual survivors, creating a powerful and universal narrative of resilience. The masterfully crafted animation in A PIECE OF PEACE shines a light on what is supposed to stay hidden: a gaping wound that is a country and its people"

Kevin was born in a FARC camp but grew away for safety reasons in Marta's house, his godmother. Escorted by Arturo, Marta's husband, Kevin paid monthly visits to his mother in the guerrilla camp until his 6th birthday, when the AUC paramilitary group took hold of the region.

The AUC murders Marta and destroys the town, forcing Kevin's displacement to Bucaramanga to stay with Fabiola, Marta's sister. There, Kevin refuses to accept his new conditions, leaves school, and plots to go back to his town. But Fabiola's sudden illness will force him to choose between chasing ghosts or embrace his newfound family.
