LOGLINE

In an attempt to fix a problem with her bills; Annie Biondich ends up working in a Collections Agency which is run in a very particular way.

SYNOPSIS

PAY YOUR BILL is a single camera, half an hour workplace comedy that takes place at a collection agency where hopes and dreams go to die. It's chaos, torture and hell, and that's on a good day.

OUR STORY

My name is Annie Biondich and I am the writer, executive producer of the tv pilot Workplace comedy Pay Your Bill. I am currently a member of SAG/AFTRA with a strong background in comedy. I founded my production BIO COMEDY LAB in 2016 which focuses on comedy programming.

The comedy is a fish out of the water journey revolving around Annie the protagonist. This is also my Journey about a time when I was financially ruined, in fact I had lost everything and I ended up living with my mom and working in a collections agency.

The comedy is a recollection of experiences that I had while I worked there. Those were definitely dark times but I found a life again writing about it and living the life through the characters.
