

Aayush Srivastava

Aayush is an aspiring Director of Photography who studied at the International Academy of Film and Television (IAFT) in the Philippines. Born and raised in India, Aayush developed a passion for cinematography at a young age, inspired by the works of legendary filmmakers such as Satyajit Ray and Stanley Kubrick.

After completing his undergraduate studies in India, Aayush decided to pursue his dream of becoming a Director of Photography and enrolled in the IAFT's film school program.

During his time at IAFT, Aayush honed his technical skills and learned about the art of visual storytelling. He also had the opportunity to work on a variety of film projects, ranging from short films to music videos, as well as collaborate with other aspiring filmmakers from around the world.

Upon graduation, Aayush returned to India and began his career in the film industry as a camera assistant, working on several independent film projects. His dedication and hard work eventually paid off when he was offered his first opportunity as a Director of Photography on a Web Series (Kakori).

Since then, Aayush has worked on a variety of projects, including short films, music videos, commercials, and feature films. He has also continued to refine his craft by attending workshops and seminars, and staying up-to-date with the latest camera and lighting technology.

Aayush's ultimate goal is to become a sought-after Director of Photography in the Indian film industry and to continue pushing the boundaries of visual storytelling through his work.
