SYNOPSIS

In 1982 Michael Clark, a struggling musician seeking artistic inspiration retreats to an abandoned cabin to record a demo, only to encounter a mysterious Siren whose haunting melodies intertwine with his music. The film explores the seductive allure of artistic success and the sacrifices one must make. Blurring the lines between reality and the mystical, "Siren's Song" unfolds a mysterious tale of passion, sacrifice, and the ethereal power of creativity.

DIRECTOR'S NOTE

"Siren's Song" is the most ambitious and, undoubtedly, the most challenging film we have ever collaborated on producing. Operating with a skeleton crew and personally handling every aspect of this project, from camera operation to rotoscoping, we believe this short film showcases our ability to create a world that feels authentic and compelling within the otherwise restrictive bounds of a micro-budget.

With "Siren's Song," we've leveraged the power of creativity, ingenuity, and no small amount of scrappiness to craft a fantasy / horror film set in the 1980s that pulls you under its spell and never lets go.
