SYNOPSIS

A child looks through a telescope she made out of a plastic bottle and experiences glimpses of our plastic-polluted future.

QUOTES

“We hope that this fun story can inspire audiences to be more mindful consumers to protect our planet.” - Sean Lin, Producer

PROJECT INFO

Made for MeshMinds to raise awareness and catalyse action to end plastic pollution in South-East Asia.

PRODUCTION

The film was shot in Sepang, Malaysia. The set provided meals without the use of single-use plastics and required the crew to use their own reusable water bottles, while opting for digital call-sheets and scripts. Carbon emissions from transportation during the shoot days are calculated and compensated 150% through tree planting.

END CARD TEXTS

Our future is in our hands.
Stop throwing it away.

Say no to single-use plastic.

Together, we can #BeatPlasticPollution.

Children all over the world have been demanding to live and grow up in a clean, healthy and sustainable environment.

In 2021, this became a human right.

Let's make this right our reality.
