EXT. MYRTLEVILLE BEACH - DAY

MEESH and MOOSH skip stones by the water while drinking cans of Heineken. Moosh downs his can, crushes it and pats Meesh on his arm.

MOOSH

Come on, it's time to go.

MEESH

I don't know, maybe just give me a minute.

MOOSH

We haven't got a minute, the mothership will be here soon!

MEESH

Alright, alright! Look, I don't know how I feel about this.

MOOSH

About what?

MEESH

Going back, I've started to become attached to this planet. It's people, their culture, their funny little glowing sticks.

Meesh takes out a red elfbar and inhales smoke into his lungs. Before Meesh has the chance to finish inhaling, Moosh smacks it out of his mouth.

MOOSH

I've already told you that you've had enough of those! Besides, we have a responsibility to our people. We need to report back our findings to HQ so we can begin preparations for this planets domination! We can't skip stones and drink these delicious earth drinks forever!

MEESH

Yeah well, why not? Why do we have to try control everything all of the time? Why does it always have to be work, work, work? I'm sick and tired of it. There's nothing for me back there.

MOOSH

Meesh, of course there is. Think about our family, our friends, won't you miss them?

MEESH

Of course I will Moosh, but I just don't think that life back at Zarinthean 5 is for me. I've always just done what is expected of me there, and never explored what I actually want for me. This is finally my chance. I can begin a new with these people.

MOOSH

What am I supposed to say in my report if I return alone?

MEESH

Tell them that the humans have become too advanced to invade and that we wouldn't stand a chance. I was captured and disposed of by their leader.

MOOSH

You know they won't believe that for a second.

MEESH

It's worth a shot.

The wooshing sounds of the mothership can be heard in the distance.

MOOSH

I'll miss you.

MEESH

I'll miss you too.

Meesh and Moosh hug each other goodbye. As Moosh walks away, Meesh gazes out at the water.

EXT. MYRTLEVILLE BEACH - DAY

Meesh traverses the beach, contemplating his thoughts. As Meesh walks along the beach, a man in a paddy cap and a walking stick emerges in the distance.

PADDY
Hello young creature, how are you today?

THE END.
