MIRACLE ZONE

IN A DYSTOPIAN WORLD
SOME BELIEVE IN MIRACLES

In a post-apocalyptic and heavily guarded zone, Misha is a dreamer who collects abandoned memories of lost ones. He believes that "Love & Memories" have the power to make miracles. Eva, a young woman is only one who shares his beliefs while is searching in forbidden Zone for her missing son.

Dane, a young scientist, arrives in town on a mission to find truth about the Zone, he and Eva join Misha on the journey to the Zone that sets off a series of events.

In the world divided by conflict and war, Universe Zone offers a captivating and visually stunning powerful message of hope.

This UK-produced, visually stunning film, shot in the evocative landscapes of Georgia and Lithuania, transcends genres to weave a mystical adventure with poignant drama.

Witness the journey of Misha, a dreamer who believes in the power of love and memories, as he ventures into the forbidden Zone, sparking a chain of events that unveil the enduring strength of love to heal even the deepest wounds. Join Eva, searching for her lost son, and Dane, a truth-seeking scientist, as they embark on a perilous quest that resonates deeply with audiences yearning for light in dark times.

Universe Zone is not just a film; it's a prophetic tale, a testament to the power of love, and a call for healing and reconciliation, offering a beacon of hope for audiences seeking inspiration.

DYSTOPIAN MYSTICAL MOVIES

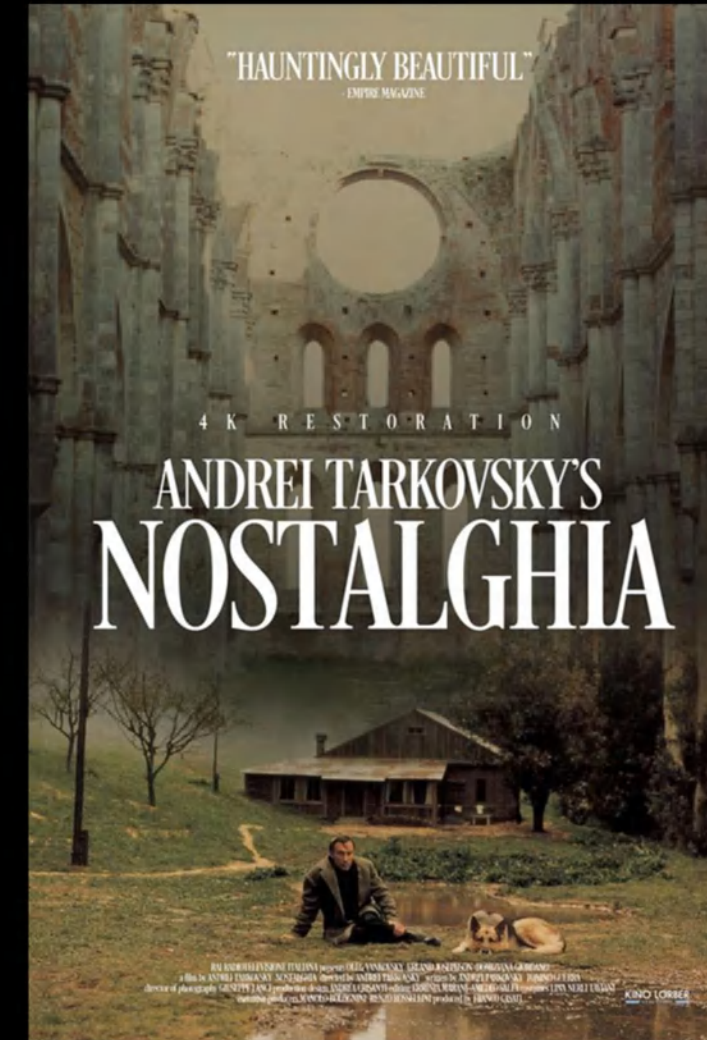

Tarkovsky meets Kusturica in Universe Zone.

Universe Zone draws inspiration from masterpieces like Andrei Tarkovsky's 'Stalker' (1979) and 'Nostalgia' (1983), with their thought-provoking exploration of the human psyche and the mystical. While it shares elements of dystopian mysticism, Universe Zone is a unique and original creation that defies easy comparison. It also draws inspiration from the warm-hearted and comedic essence found in Emir Kusturica's films, such as the 2016 movie 'On the Milky Road' infusing the film with moments of laughter and heartwarming storytelling.
