LOGLINE

Walk and Talk is a coming-of-age drama about Eve, a wild and aloof 16-year-old girl who takes a spontaneous night walk to escape her overbearing mother. With her thoughts and frustrations pouring out, Eve engages in a conversation with herself, exploring her identity and her place in the world.

SYNOPSIS

Walk and Talk is a surreal coming-of-age b&w 16mm short film about Eve, a wild and aloof 16-year-old girl who takes a spontaneous night walk to escape her overbearing mother. With her thoughts and frustrations pouring out, Eve engages in a conversation with herself, exploring her identity and her place in the world.

Sasha Rojen as Eve

Sasha started acting in TV shows at 9 years old like iZombie and Bates Motel. She Played young Iris in the Flash and acted in various shows until 2018 when she became the Voice of Ezran in The Dragon Prince by Aaron Ehasz.

She continues to voice Ezran and is now pursuing a Visual Arts degree.

DIRECTOR, Inanna Cusi

Inanna Cusi is a multi-disciplinary artist focusing on the practical and hands-on aspects of art. She makes images through drawing, painting, sculpture, animation and film. Her recent interest, after studying film at Simon Fraser University, directing multiple festival playing shorts and producing an indie feature, has been in analog motion picture's darkroom developing side. Through a mentorship at Cineworks, she has helped build their new darkroom facilities while learning from experts and developing many 8mm and 16mm projects.

PRODUCER, Hugh Liu

Hugh, a storyteller and filmmaker, traces his roots back to China. At 14, he embarked on an exciting journey when his family moved to Canada. Hugh's creative works have been showcased at the Vancouver International Youth Film Festival, the Vancouver Chinese Film Festival, YEG's Underground Film Festival, and film retrospective screenings at the Cineworks Independent Filmmaker Society.

His Film Bound to No On Won a Leo Award for best student film 2024
