

Log Line

A band that has only experienced hard times writes a hit song which is stolen by a rival record label.

Synopsis

This Action Comedy which takes place in the groovy era follows a sunshine rock band called Apology None that has always struggled to make a hit record.

A promising demo gives them hope but is stolen by a rival record company.

A raunchy band called The Hoglies takes their song toward the top of the record charts.

Apology None, with the guidance of their genius keyboardist, attempts to reclaim their song using methods seen in espionage action films.

Director's Statement

This period piece took four years to complete and features cameos from "groovy era" celebrities such as Marta Kristen (Judy from Lost In Space) and long time Kansas City personality Fred Broski. While the previous film "The Last Page of Summer" was intended as a short story but grew legs, this film was intended as a feature film and the plot was decided when the project began. The film shows the lighter side of the band without the intense drama of the last film. The soundtrack consists of all original music from Apology None (psychedelic pop's grooviest cartoon band). Most of the songs can be found on the album "Hideaway"

Though I love and appreciate all who voice act in these films, I scaled down the size of the cast this time. A high point of this film for me was the addition of long time Kansas City TV/radio personality Fred Broski (my 'TV Pal' when I was a small child).

No AI was used in the creation of this film or the music within.

About the creator

I am a professional DCIM graphic designer located in North-East Florida. I have a passion for animating and am the creator of the animated "groovy era" band Apology None. I write and perform the fictitious band's music as well as produce, direct, draw and animate the episodes and films.

Using my stage persona Terry Summer (the front man of Apology None), I am part of a comedy podcast show called "The Wrong Channel" and host an iRadio show called the "Apology None Fun Hour". I have also made animated music videos for other bands.

Outside of animating I enjoy local theater, helping with indie films in my community and creating fantasy-based creature costumes I cosplay at various comic cons.
