

RAZAKAR 2025

Dear Festival Selection Committee,

With the audacity of a stage spotlight piercing the darkness, I submit for your consideration RAZAKAR — a short film where performance becomes protest, and identity is both weapon and wound. Set in 1968, against the simmering tensions of pre-partition East and West Pakistan, RAZAKAR tells the story of a young Bengali actor struggling to prove his worth under the rule of a tyrannical director. Through theatrical metaphor and historical subtext, the film explores the quiet defiance of those silenced by language, power, and place.

RAZAKAR is more than a film—it is an emotional journey shaped with intent and urgency. Every frame, every silence, has been crafted to stir reflection and resonate with the unspoken tensions of identity and belonging. I believe cinema holds the power to transcend boundaries, and RAZAKAR stands as a testament to that belief—a work that strives to challenge, engage, and linger long after the screen fades to black.

Thank you for your time and consideration. We are thrilled at the prospect of sharing "RAZAKAR" with your esteemed audience.

Sincerely,

Talha Farrukh
