END

A Short Film by NIKKI DURBIN

LOGLINE

A man alone in a room is confronted with a dark decision, with only a few things at his disposal: a notepad and pen, an old radio, and a button marked with a single word. END.

SYNOPSIS

An unnamed man is alone in a room with a ticking timer counting down. Using the radio to tune into various stations, listening to the good and bad of humanity, he begins to compile a list of Pros and Cons, all while contemplating the decision that's hanging over his head. Staring at the button in front of him, he's left with a dilemma of choice that will skew not only his own moral compass, but all of humanity.

A hand holding a pen over a clipboard with a script, and a black 'END' sign with a red button.

BACKSTORY

Starring the fantastic Joey Thurmond and directed by Brian Alexander based on a script written by Nikki Durbin, END is a thrilling and thought provoking film that will have you asking yourself where you stand on morality, humanity, and life itself. Featuring sound work from the same sound designer that brought you The Occurrence in River Oaks, a highly successful audio drama with nearly 100,000 downloads and an average 4.5/5 star rating, and with an incredible cast of voice actors playing the voices heard over the radio, END is a melding pot of talents that tells a truly moving and amazing story that leaves you with more questions than answers, and has you searching within yourself, in all the right ways.
