FrankyShots Production Announces “Eyes in the Wild” — A Wildlife Documentary Exploring Nature Beyond Human Sight

[Burhanpur, India] — FrankyShots Production is proud to announce the release of Eyes in the Wild, a 61-minute wildlife documentary directed and produced by Franklin Anthony Simon. The film explores how the forest might look through a vision inspired by tetrachromacy — simulated using a filter and visual technique developed by the filmmaker himself.

Shot entirely in Central India, Eyes in the Wild combines authentic wildlife footage, original soundscapes, and poetic narration to reveal the unseen hues and behaviours of wild species. Though not a scientific reproduction, the project bridges art and ecology, offering audiences a new sensory experience of the natural world.

The documentary is currently being submitted to international festivals and OTT platforms.
