61. (10 sec) Golden leaves fall, an artistic image on the surface of still water. Each one descends, creating circles that grow larger and larger, covering the entire screen.
62. Music: A single piano note, repeating itself over and over.

63. (8 sec) The young girls are standing in David's room, their breath cool. A small dollar sign rises and falls, like stars flying upwards and disappearing into the sky.

64. Sound: Only their breaths + a light breeze.

65. (12 sec) A large raindrop falls on a closed rose. The rose opens, and a golden streak of light falls.
66. Music: The sound of a single, very long violin.
67. (9 sec) The sun rises from the mountain's peak, its light moving over the village of Nagi. The clock in the hospital begins to twinkle in the distance.
68. Music: Complete silence, then a single, very distant tick-tock.
69. (11 sec) Many stars twinkle in the black sky, then a single large star descends and stands in front of the camera, transforming into the shape of a heart. Music: A small bell chimes every 3 seconds.
70. (8 sec) Spring leaves flutter in the air, then gather again, forming a clock face before disappearing.
71. Sound: Wind + rustling leaves.
72. (10 sec) A girl stretches her wings to the sky. Small stars descend upon her wings, forming a tiny clock face in her palm, then fly away again.
73. Music: The sound of a celestial harbinger.
74. (12 sec) A hunter runs in search of light. With each step he takes, a small light trails behind him, pointing towards a star flying towards the sky.
75. Sound: His footsteps + the sound of a Nigerian heartbeat.
76. (9 sec) The entire sky transforms into the shape of a very large clock face, and the Norman cable car boat reflects people... and in the end, we don't stop completely.
77. Music: A very slow, old sound.
78. (10 sec) The girl and the boy look at each other, and between them, a thin, light line flies towards a clock face that spins after them and then disappears.

79. Sound: A child's distant laughter. (11 sec) A large tree at night, each leaf with a tiny star on it, and then all the stars fall like golden rain.

80. Music: The whispered voice of a children's choir.

81. (10 sec) The End: The screen is completely black... then a tiny point of light grows and grows until it fills the screen, and the word "The End" appears. Ed, a child.

82. Sound: One tick-tock... and then silence.
