

Bio

Adrien Pereira is a 31-year-old French web developer and passionate filmmaker. At the age of 18, he studied cinema and theater at Acte 1 in Lille, France, where he discovered his deep love for visual storytelling. However, professional and financial constraints led him to step away from filmmaking for several years.

In 2025, the emergence of artificial intelligence tools gave him the opportunity to return to his passion. That same year, he directed three projects: the musical video series Dark Theater, the thriller mini-series Forest of the Soul, and the dramatic short film Rendezvous Up There.

Just A Regret is his first major dramatic short film. Through anthropomorphic characters, it explores themes of grief, regret, and the fragile boundary between duty and humanity.
