

Short Synopsis

Ten years after the tragic death of his son, killed by a drunk driver, Dr. Marcus Reed, a palliative care physician, finds himself confronted with his worst nightmare: having to treat the man responsible for his tragedy.

Torn between the Hippocratic Oath and a father's silent rage, an intense and silent confrontation unfolds in the dim light of a hospital room.